

Expand Your Legal Practice

Case Study: The Law Office of A. Green

QuickFee Instalments allowed the Law Office of A. Green to address cash flow needs, expand the reach of their practice, and build stronger client relationships.

Challenge

The Law Office of A. Green is a family law, divorce, and child custody firm based in Houston. As the firm's owner and managing attorney, Ashley Green understands the unique financial challenges that clients often face.

The firm realised they needed a simple payment and financing solution to address client cash flow issues – and reduce stress during what can be an incredibly difficult time in the client's life.

Solution

After reviewing their payment options, the firm chose QuickFee Instalments (QFI) to meet the need for flexible payments. It's a financing alternative that allows legal clients to make interest-free monthly payments, using the credit card they already have.

"We were primarily hoping to help clients who couldn't pay in full right away," said Attorney Green. "We appreciated that QuickFee does not charge the clients any interest for using this service." The firm also liked that clients do not have to submit an application or meet specific requirements to take out an instalment plan.

Once they received their custom payment portal for QFI, the firm began offering it to select clients via an emailed link.

Results

With QFI, the firm is now able to offer their services to more clients who might otherwise have been unable to afford their fees. In addition to making fees more manageable, QFI allows clients to better manage their expenses. The result? Stronger client relationships, faster payments, and a boost in firm revenue.

"QuickFee Instalments is easy to use, and our clients love the no-interest option. We are impressed with the customer service and implementation support we've received from the QuickFee team. We would highly recommend QuickFee Instalments to bring in business and improve cash flow."

Ashley Green
Attorney & Owner, Law Office of A. Green